Wild Yellowstone Land of Geysers & Grizzlies

photography by David William Peterson

Yellowstone: land of geysers and grizzlies and bison and wolves and coyotes and mountains and waterfalls and... well, you get the picture. Photographer David Peterson has been getting the picture since first visiting the park in 1982 and now makes it his home during the summer season. Through this collection of images, Peterson shares the many moods of Yellowstone, offering an insider's view of the park and its inhabitants. From misty vistas of its various landscapes to wildfires and stormy skyscapes to engaging wildlife shots and sweeping aerial vistas, this collection offers a portrait of America's first national park as few see it.

Along Came a Cowgirl Daring and Iconic Women of Rodeos and Wild West Shows by Chris Enss

In Along Came a Cowgirl: Daring and Iconic Women of Rodeos and Wild West Shows, New York Times best-selling author Chris Enss introduces you to the world of early rodeo—and to the stories of the women whose names resounded in rodeo arenas across the nation in the early twentieth century. These cowgirls dared to break society's traditional roles in the male dominated rodeo and trick riding world, defying all expectations. With the desire to entertain crowds and a lot of grit and determination, they were able to saddle up and follow their dreams.

American Trinity

Jefferson, Custer, and the Spirit of the West (Revised Edition) by Larry Len Peterson

In American Trinity, Dr. Larry Len Peterson details the collision of European and Native American civilizations and the bloody aftermath that doomed a once-thriving people. Wide-ranging and brimming with fresh insights, American Trinity focuses on how the West was shaped by three implacable forces: Christian imperialism, Thomas Jefferson's Doctrine of Discovery, and George Armstrong Custer's hubris. It is a fascinating book that will make you think about the differences between belief and knowledge; about the selfskepticism of science and medicine; and about what aspects of the world we take on faith.

The Art of Tsuba The Montgomery Collection

by M. Jeffrey Harshman

Samurai sword guards, or tsuba, reflect the rich history and artistic culture of the Japanese people, the warriors who wielded them as part of their weaponry, and the achievement of the craftsmen who made them. This volume comprises the extraordinary tsuba collection of Gary Montgomery, who studied, documented, and curated his finds over half a century. Color photographs of the tsuba; notes on origins, makers, and provenance; and detailed references make this book a must-have for collectors looking to improve their knowledge.

Back-Tracking in Memory

The Life of Charles M. Russell, Artist Recollections, Reflections, and Personal Perspectives by Nancy Cooper Russell edited by Tom A. Petrie & Brian W. Dippie

Nancy Cooper Russell's recollections of Charles M. Russell, the Cowboy Artist, are published at last! In her own words, Nancy shares her stories of Charles as the outstanding Western artist of his day and writes about their life during the growth of his career.

She writes, "I, as you know, married the only Charles Russell in the world and my life has been very full of romance, which they like to make moving pictures out of, only mine happens to be real." Back-Tracking in Memory will delight all those who love Charles M. Russell and his enduring vision of "the West that has passed."

Field Guide to the North American Jackalope Expanded Edition

by Andy Robbins

Elusive. Otherworldly. Beautiful. These words—and many more—can be used to describe one of North America's most enigmatic creatures: the jackalope. The purpose of this field guide is to provide the reader with a "scientifically accurate" description of the jackalope, its habits and habitats, as well as the history of the species and its North American subspecies. Popular jackalope myths will also be examined to gain further understanding of jackalope behavior.

Osprey The Glorious Pursuit of Unbridled Determination

by Mark Smith

The Osprey—Pandion haliaetus—is also known as the Fish Hawk, but that simple label does not do this magnificent bird justice. The Osprey is a master angler whose fish catching skills are unparalleled. There is no other living creature on this planet that comes hurtling out of the sky at speeds exceeding fifty miles an hour, dives feet first into the water, and somehow resurfaces with a fish clutched tightly in its talons. A true apex predator in a league of its own, being on top presents its own unique set of challenges that must be faced and overcome on a daily basis.

Rescues and Other Stories of Animals Who Have Touched My Life by Debi Pace

Animal rescuer and author Debi Pace has referred to her home as the "Kennel of Last Resort." Wherever Pace has lived, she has volunteered at the local shelter or humane society, and for the last fifteen years she has taken in the hardest cases and worked hands-on to rehabilitate and rehome animals—and kept a running cast of characters in her life from collies to kittens to a cockabeagador. These stories celebrate the countless dogs, cats, birds, rabbits, and other creatures who have made their homes with her and that she has restored to health, rehomed with new families, or helped over the "rainbow bridge."

Splendid Was The Trail

by Kenneth D. Swan

This memoir of the Forest Service's earliest days in the Northern Rockies, written by one of its first rangers offers a return to the "Stetson hat era" of the U.S. Forest Service, when a ranger's gear never failed to include a hat, and his survival depended as much upon his horse's mood as a change in weather.

Undulating La Roux

by Annie Daniel-Clark

The whimsical, magical painted characters in Undulating La Roux represent the outliers in our lives who bring life color and joy. These "outliers" are accompanied by the wry humor and quirky observations of Annie Daniel Clark (also known as Annie Allen), a Montana artist. Clark has captured these vibrant spirits using dyes on mineral paper, creating a richness of color and hue and matches the richness of the human experience that she explores through her art.

A Young Man of Montana From Hard Youth to Hawaii Mule-skinner

by Daniel T. Miller

Irvin Atchison lived a hard life as a young man growing up around Sidney, Montana, in the difficult times of the 1920s and 1930s. He had a way with horses and a hardscrabble life. When he joined the US Army, he had no idea that his skill would take him to the mountains of Hawaii to train mules in preparation for the coming War. Author Daniel T. Miller shares this little-known story of the military preparations for World War II in Hawaii as told by Atchison, a story of triumph over adversity with deep Montana roots.

An Alaska Flyfisher's Odyssey

by Daniel P. Hoffman

If you're ready to live as a diehard fly fisherman in the land of the midnight sun, you'd better be prepared to weather several long months of midnight. The author's existential pursuit of a "drag-free drift" borrows from the analogous concept in fly fishing, where one's line is mended as necessary to float the fly along the natural flow of the current. Set against the backdrop of a life spent in the latitudes of the Far North, follow author, Daniel as he casts about in search of arctic grayling, rainbow trout, and the ultimate truths in life.

California Disasters by Phyllis Perry

It is often said that California has four seasons: drought, flood, fire, and earthquakes. California Disasters highlights some of the major such events occurring in the state over the last two hundred years. Some disasters are man-made, and others are the result of the forces of nature, such as the snow-trapped Donner Party of 1846 or the unforgettable fire and earthquake of 1906 in San Francisco and the Bay Area. Although disasters usually bring loss, they sometimes bring us hard-won knowledge that may prevent future tragedies. Out of each disaster, acts of heroism, bravery, and compassion occur as individuals and groups attempt to aid victims in need.

In Search of the Mount Cleveland Five The Aftermath of Montana's Worst Mountaineering Tragedy on Glacier Park's Highest Mountain

by Terry Kennedy

Two days after Christmas in 1969, five young, forward-thinking mountaineers set out to climb Mount Cleveland, the highest peak in Glacier National Park. They were never seen alive again. The Mount Cleveland tradedy will remain one of the most enigmatic mountaineering accidents in the United States. In Search of the Mount Cleveland Five is a true story about the coming-of-age of the author that races through twenty-two years of climbing endeavors with colorful Montana climbers and their close calls, antics, and tears. The grief and inspiration of the Mount Cleveland avalanche never leaves the rearview mirror.

One October Night

by Leo McCarthy

On the night of October 27, 2007, three teenage girls were walking home after a day of football, family, and fun, when they were struck by an under-age drunk driver in a pickup who fled the scene. Two of the girls survived, forever changed. Fourteen-year-old Mariah Daye McCarthy did not. One October Night is the very personal story of Mariah's family and their community in close-knit Butte, Montana, and the journey undertaken by Mariah's father, Leo, as he seeks justice for his daughter and peace for his family, and a more lasting legacy for Mariah.

A Young Man of Montana

From Hard Youth to Hawaii Mule-skinner by Daniel T. Miller

Irvin Atchison lived a hard life as a young man growing up around Sidney, Montana, in the difficult times of the 1920s and 1930s. He had a way with horses and a hardscrabble life. When he joined the US Army, he had no idea that his skill would take him to the mountains of Hawaii to train mules in preparation for the coming War. Author Daniel T. Miller shares this little-known story of the military preparations for World War II in Hawaii as told by Atchison, a story of triumph over adversity with deep Montana roots.

Montana's State Capitol

The People's House by Kirby Lambert, Patricia M. Burnham and Susan R. Near

Lavishly illustrated with historic and modern photographs, this book provides a long overdue tribute to this crown jewel of Montana architecture. An imposing symbol, Montana's Capitol reflects the values and aspirations of the Treasure State's founders. Its neoclassical design impresses, while the murals and statues that embellish the building's grand interior spaces commemorate important events and people in the state's history.

Searching for Yellowstone

Ecology and Wonder in the Last Wilderness by Paul Schullery

In 1997 Yellowstone celebrated its 125th anniversary as a national park, the keystone in the federal system of reserved and protected places. The celebration was somewhat marred by debates over wolf reintroduction, road improvement, resort building, and "bioprospecting," the search for economically useful plant materials. Schullery, a longtime resident and student of the park, tells us that

A Tenderfoot in Montana

Reminiscences of the Gold Rush, the Vigilantes, and the Birth of the Montana Territory by Francis M. Thompson edited by Kenneth N. Owens

Frank Thompson's lively memoir details his experiences in the upper Missouri River country at the beginning of the Montana gold rush. Drawing from his intimate knowledge of the circumstances and players involved, Thompson vividly describes one of the deadliest incidents of vigilante justice in U.S. history. A self-styled tenderfoot, Frank Thompson recalls his days on the mining frontier with clarity and insight, making him an unmatched eyewitness for Montana's formative era.

Wheel Boats on the Missouri

The Journals and Documents of the Atkinson-O'Fallon Expedition, 1824-26 edited and with an introduction by Richard E. Jensen and James S. Hutchins

In 1824 Brig. Gen. Henry Atkinson and Indian Agent Benjamin O'Fallon traveled up the Missouri River, along with 475 soldiers of the First and Sixth Infantry regiments. Their mission: to negotiate peace treaties with tribes along the Missouri River, and to secure their promise to trade exclusively with American citizens. Here, the full record of this early military expedition is now available.

A Farmer's Life Notes from Terhune Orchards

by Gary Mount

In 1975 Gary and Pam Mount bought Terhune Orchards, a 55-acre farm near Princeton, New Jersey, determined to create a prosperous working farm and retail operation. Now with 250 acres and hundreds of thousands of visitors each year, the farm is celebrated through the articles Gary published in Terhune Orchard's newsletter-now collected in this book, illustrated with color and black and white photographs.

WHO POOPED IN THE PARK? SERIES

Michael, Emily, and their parents explore national parks and other sites around the country. Wildlife can be elusive, and both kids are disappointed when, at first, they don't encounter many animals. The kids quickly learn, however, that there are animals all around, and these creatures leave behind scat, tracks, and other sign. Colorful illustrations of animals and their scat and tracks, as well as a quick-reference chart, make field identification a breeze! For ages 5 to 10.

All books are written by Gary D. Robson and illustrated by Robert Rath unless otherwise noted. 48 pages, 91% x 81% • softcover, sewn or PUR perfect bound Prices listed below.
